

Jaguar Oil Tools Inc.

Good Product, Great Service, Fair Price

Since March of 1997, Murray Weston has been President and 50% owner of Jaguar Oil Tools. One year ago, Ted Moore, owner and operator of Excalibre Oil Tools Ltd., came on board with Jaguar as a 50% owner.

Murray Weston was born and raised in Swift Current and has been employed in the local oilfield industry for over twelve years. He is married and has three children and continues to live in Swift Current.

Ted Moore was also born and raised in Swift Current. Since 1985, he has resided in Calgary. Ted has been involved in the oilfield industry for over twenty-four years beginning with Swift Current's DuraProducts. As well as owner and operator of Excalibre Oil Tools Ltd. and part owner of Jaguar Oil Tools Inc., Ted also owns TeBo Industries Ltd. TeBo Industries Ltd. is a Calgary-based oilfield manufacturing company.

Purchasing one half of Jaguar Oil Tools aids Ted Moore in giving back to the community for where he started in the oilfield industry.

Jaguar Oil Tools Inc. provide a complete line of downhole production and completion equipment for the oil and gas industry. One year ago in response to the ever-growing natural gas industry in the Swift Current area, the company expanded into a full line of tools and equipment to service natural gas exploration. In the last eight months, Jaguar's customer base has increased sixty-five percent. Their staff requirement increased from four to ten employees when they expanded.

Jaguar Oil Tools Inc. has been and is an agent for Weatherford Fishing and Wireline and Weatherford Completions for the past six years. They have also been agents for Excalibre Oil Tools for the past two and a half years.

President and part-owner, Murray Weston, feels the major reason for the Jaguar Oil Tool's success is that they continually offer "good product and great service at a fair price". In response to the question of a company business philosophy, Murray says that Jaguar Oil Tools Inc. is "committed to expanding and enhancing their products and services to meet the ever-changing needs of their customers".
